Norms of Collaboration

Annotated

1. Pausing

Pausing before responding or asking a question allows time for thinking and enhances dialogue, discussion, and decision-making.

2. Paraphrasing

Using a paraphrase starter that is comfortable for you – “So...” or “As you are...” or “You’re thinking...” – and following the starter with an efficient paraphrase assists members of the group in hearing and understanding one another as they converse and make decisions.

3. Posing Questions

Two intentions of posing questions are to explore and to specify thinking. Questions may be posed to explore perceptions, assumptions, and interpretations, and to invite others to inquire into their thinking. For example, “What might be some conjectures you are exploring?” Use focusing questions such as, “Which students, specifically?” or “What might be an example of that?” to increase the clarity and precision of group members’ thinking. Inquire into others’ ideas before advocating one’s own.

4. Putting Ideas on the Table

Ideas are the heart of meaningful dialogue and discussion. Label the intention of your comments. For example: “Here is one idea...” or “One thought I have is...” or “Here is a possible approach...” or “Another consideration might be...”.

5. Providing Data

Providing data, both qualitative and quantitative, in a variety of forms supports group members in constructing shared understanding from their work. Data have no meaning beyond that which we make of them; shared meaning develops from collaboratively exploring, analyzing, and interpreting data.

6. Paying Attention to Self and Others

Meaningful dialogue and discussion are facilitated when each group member is conscious of self and of others, and is aware of what (s)he is saying and how it is said as well as how others are responding. This includes paying attention to learning styles when planning, facilitating, and participating in group meetings and conversations.

7. Presuming Positive Intentions

Assuming that others’ intentions are positive promotes and facilitates meaningful dialogue and discussion, and prevents unintentional put-downs. Using positive intentions in speech is one manifestation of this norm.

Highly Capable Learners

Vision
We make a collective commitment to Bellingham's children. We will empower every child to discover and develop a passion, contribute to their community, and achieve a fulfilling and productive life.

Mission
We collectively commit to support a purposeful continuum of services for a diverse group of highly capable learners to develop each individual's fullest potential.

Definition
Highly capable students are those who perform or show potential for performing at significantly advanced academic levels when compared with others of their age, experiences, or environments. Outstanding abilities are seen within students' general intellectual aptitudes, specific academic abilities, and/or creative productivities within a specific domain.

Defining Basic Education

Substitute House Bill 2261 provides the most current definition of programs funded under the umbrella of Basic Education

- General Entitlement dollars are “allocations” only and are spent at the discretion of the district
- Funding for Special Education, Categorical Programs, and Student Transportation must be spent within each program
- Flexibility within each program, however, exists

Joint Education Funding Task Force

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS EDUCATION FUNDING TASK FORCE RECOMMENDATIONS...

6) Recommendations clarifying the distinction between basic education and local enrichment services:

The Democratic Caucus recommends that the following policies no longer be considered enhancements to the program of basic education and be included in the state's basic education responsibility:

- CTE class size reductions to a level of 19:1 and skills center class size reduction to 16:1 as established in Initiative 1351. This funding is to be phased in over two years beginning in SY 2019-2020.
- Additional support is provided for the Learning Assistance Program, Transitional Bilingual Instruction Program and Special Education to help address the opportunity gap. Increased state allocations for each program are phased in over two years beginning in SY 2019-20.
- Increased investment in the Highly Capable program by increasing the number of instructional hours from 2.159 to 3.2 hours over two years.
- Increased allocations for Guidance Counselors and Parent Involvement Coordinators beginning in SY 2019-2020 in recognition of the enhancements established in Initiative 1351.

These additional enhancements to the program of basic education are phased in after the compensation phase-in is complete.

Joint Education Funding Task Force

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS EDUCATION FUNDING TASK FORCE RECOMMENDATIONS...

2(5)(F) Sources of state revenue

- Education is our paramount duty, we need to fund education first, before other priorities of government. The legislature should explore opportunities to dedicate existing law revenue growth to K-12.
- Any revenue conversation should
- Repairing the regressive le, and,
- the use of existing r. redeploy resources more effi
