TOPIC | DISCUSSION | DECISION
--- | --- | ---
WELCOME | - The meeting was started with introductions as there were new or visiting members.
- Dawn Christiana, Director in the Department of Teaching and Learning, and lead for Highly Capable, shared the start to her day was an email from a parent who has been happily surprised by the work we are doing for students identified Highly Capable. | Talk to communications about sending out email inviting families from the last few years.

REVIEW OF WEBSITE CONTACT LIST | - Dawn shared her discussion with the Communications Department regarding sharing personal email/phone numbers of Parent Advisory Committee members and how it can cause a conflict because it is a public website and any one can obtain a member’s information. |

TEACHER RECOGNITION | - Dawn talked about conversation with the Executive team and Communications regarding how to honor teachers working with students identified Highly Capable.
- One idea shared by Dawn was a Promise story to be shared on the Promise Website for Bellingham Public Schools and the story would focus on differentiation happening in our schools.
- A parent voiced their excitement about this approach to honor teachers.
- Another parent mentioned their hesitation that the Promise story felt like a one and done experience rather than ongoing recognition.
- Dawn had members turn and talk about possible opportunities for continued ways to recognize teachers. |

- Some parents wondered if the Parent Teacher Associations (PTAs) would prioritize recognizing teachers for Highly Capable, and yet PTAs are often in best position to recognize teachers.
- Another group of members shared possibly having a representative for Highly Capable at the PTA meetings would allow for Highly Capable representation within the PTA and the ability to share at the school level what is happening with Highly Capable.
- Some members questioned the focus on Highly Capable and why the focus can’t be on all teachers who are doing really good work.
- A parent shared their frustration regarding differentiation as their student does not share with them what is happening in the classroom.
- Dawn cautioned that there are times when what a student says is happening is not necessarily what is happening in the classroom.
- A principal shared an experience with a transfer student and how the student was frustrated because mini–lessons weren’t happening. However, once he was questioned about what was happening in the classroom it became clear that the student was receiving all the supports he thought he wasn’t.

- Dawn grounded members in the information shared regarding the English pathway in the previous meeting.
- Dawn posed the questions “what are the needs of our students?” and “who might benefit from advancement?”
- A principal commented this is not an advancement but a grade acceleration path.

- Dawn shared that currently high school teachers are developing courses for the new eight period high school schedule. The other purpose is to focus more on the whole child so students are not overwhelming themselves.
- A parent asked if there are pitfalls with over identification and how it will affect this track?
- Dawn shared a story from Rhonda Schraeder-Young, Case Manager working with students identified Highly Capable, regarding students that she is meeting with throughout the year.
- Another parent shared she doesn’t know if her student should actually be identified due to his scores and the areas he was identified.
- A parent wondered why there isn’t a school counselor as a part of the Highly Capable Learners Parent Advisory Committee.

*Possibly look at universities and what they are looking for beyond a well-rounded academic career.
*Possibly ask counselors to come and talk about high school schedule changes and what they are seeing in the schools.
*Check into availability for typing instruction for middle school and high school students.
- Another parent shared her experience as an online Advanced Placement (AP) teacher and the anxiety many of her students experience and that it is becoming a mental health issue.
- Dawn went over an example of third graders and their differing reading levels, the materials available and impact on students.
- A parent shared the struggle she had with age appropriate reading and how can we change the mindset from just because you can read it doesn’t mean you can comprehend or discuss it.

FOR NEXT MEETING:
- Differentiation
- Over identification in Bellingham Public Schools
- Continue English Conversation
