Introductions and Meeting Purpose

Attendees introduced themselves and explained their connection to the district. President Ken Gass and Director Kelly Bashaw explained the purpose of linkages and some of the recent linkages the Board has hosted.

The Bellingham Promise

The group reviewed The Bellingham Promise and discussed points that resonated with them and what could be improved.

General comments included:

- We need to grow citizens who can govern
- Liked that the Promise includes the words “respectful” and “compassionate”
- Liked that the Promise includes vocational options; we need all students to be productive

- In response to a question, Dr. Baker explained that “One Schoolhouse” meant equitable distribution of resources to all schools
- Liked the collective community – we are all in this together
- Appreciated the listed outcomes for students. The same outcomes that make successful students will make successful adults.

How can the district and city work even more closely together?

- Neighborhood schools are fundamental to the success of our community
- The city would like to be more involved in reviewing district facility plans. Dr. Baker indicated representatives from the Facilities Planning Task Force met with city staff to talk through ideas and receive input
- Cathy Lehman is the city council liaison to the school board. It would be helpful for the city to clarify the role of this position
- Good communication is key
- The city and district have worked together on safe walking routes in the past
- The district resource officer serves as a great connection between the district and police department. The district resource officer has reviewed security issues with district administrators
- Suggested the city share the most current information on the city’s growth patterns to assist the district in future locations of schools
- Discussed how to encourage more dense, urban growth
- Discussed district involvement in the community health plan. Dr. Baker updated the council on the collaborative work of the district with Western Washington University and key community organizations. Community health is a key piece of this work
- D.A.R.E. program was a past example of working together for the success of students

District Facilities Planning Task Force

Dr. Baker updated the city council on the work of the District Facilities Planning Task Force, which begin meeting in September. Approximately 40 people have reviewed district facilities and will make their recommendations for facility needs for the next 10 years to the superintendent. The process has included online surveys, four community meetings and thoughtful reflection. Dr. Baker expressed a high level of confidence in the process.

Summary

The council offered the district the use of BVT10, if needed, to continue to communicate information. City council members invited the school board to make a presentation at a future council meeting. The school board invited Council Member Cathy Lehman to attend any school board meetings, but especially an upcoming session to study the facilities recommendations. It was acknowledged by both groups that they work on parallel paths and the more they can work together and share, the better.
